The Detroit Chapter of ASM International – The Materials Information Society proudly presents a lecture series on light weight materials.

Topics were carefully chosen to reflect the interests of today's design engineers. They include:

- Austempered Ductile Iron
- Advanced High Strength Steels
- Aluminum
- Magnesium
- Metal Matrix Composites
- Painting Automotive Plastics

Each two hour lecture will provide the basic background information that you need to understand the material along with its applications.

All lectures will be conducted by an expert in the material topic. This is definitely one lecture series that you cannot afford to miss.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

This seminar series will benefit anyone requiring a basic knowledge of light weight materials including engineers and sales personnel. Those looking for a refresher course on light weight materials will also benefit.
